Nail-care Series

Nail clipping is a regular part of good pet care. Long nails put pressure on pets' toes causing abnormal walking posture, stress on muscles and joints, and they snag easily, causing a tearing of the nail. Overgrown nails can even become imbedded in your pet's pad, causing infection. Nails at their longest should just clear the ground when your pet stands in place. If you hear them "clicking", they need a nail trim.

Warm tips

◀ Hold your pet's paw until he or she is totally relaxed before attempting to start trimming, start the first cut, taking small cuts, bit by bit. ♡ If the pet nail is too long, it is advised to cut a small part for the first time, trim again 7-10 days and continue to trim until the nail to the appropriate length.
